

Sunshine Coast Health welcomes all Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Doctors!

We are committed to creating an environment that attracts and supports our Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander workforce by ensuring our workplaces are culturally safe and inclusive.

Opportunities for Junior Medical Officers

We strongly encourage Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Doctors to apply to join our team. Junior Medical Officer roles are advertised through the annual RMO and Intern Campaigns.

Sunshine Coast offers comprehensive teaching and training in a supportive environment to help you reach your career goals.

We encourage and support the use of Professional Development Leave (PDL) opportunities to attend educational, networking and other supportive opportunities for our dearly Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Doctors. Interns are not in receipt of PDL but applications from Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander doctors will be supported to attend events where possible (impacts on mandatory Intern training time will be considered and discussed with individual applicants).

Examples of opportunities for PDL include:

- Australian Indigenous Doctors' Association (AIDA) conference and Specialist Trainee Support Program Workshops
- The Leaders in Indigenous Medical Education Connection Conference
- Pacific Region Indigenous Doctors Congress (PRIDoC)

Sunshine Coast Health also strongly supports the connection of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Doctors to their culture, community, other Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander staff and attendance at culturally significant days or events (including but not limited to - Close the Gap, National Sorry Day, National Reconciliation Week, NAIDOC Week, Mabo Day and National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Children's Day).
