The position of an RMO encompasses several roles:

- Provision of clinical and medical administrative services under some degree of supervision (consistent with the level of experience).
- Formulation and implementation of patient management plans in line with evidence-based and cost effectiveness principles.
- Coordination on in-patient management in conjunction with other health professionals.
- Assistance in teaching responsibilities to interns, medical students and more junior colleagues.
- Communication with other members of the multi-disciplinary team.
- Surgical assistance.
- Extensive communication with patients and their relatives.
- Adherence to legal and ethical requirements, pertinent to health care delivery

Context and Delegations

- This role reports directly to the clinical director and term supervisors
- This role has a professional reporting line to Chief Medical Officer and Director Medical Services
- This role will work directly with multidisciplinary teams

Key Accountabilities

This successful applicant will carry out the following key accountabilities in accordance with the Metro North Health's values:

- Interview and examine patients to identify clinical problems.
- Select appropriate investigations.
- Assemble clinical information and the results of investigations.
- Diagnose clinical conditions.

- Plan overall clinical care through a comprehensive management plan.
- Initiate and maintain continuous critical care.
- Help patients share the responsibility of their management and care.
- Provide ethical decision making in the achievement of organisational goals.
- Utilise clinical practice guidelines and evidence-based care principles.
- Participate as a member of the multi-disciplinary team.
- Communicate regularly and effectively with Registrars and Consultants.
- Practice excellence in communication with patients and relatives.
- Actively participate in the hospitals post graduate medical education program.
- Perform medical administrative tasks as required.

About Metro North Health

Delivering outstanding health services is just one of the ways that we care for our community. Our passion for people is reflected in the way we do our work and live our values every day. We value and nurture our team members so they can provide quality value based care to our patients across our diverse organisation. Our focus on Value Based Healthcare means we expect our staff to deliver the care the patient needs, no more and no less, to achieve the best quality of life for our community. This passion fuels our collaborative culture of innovation and research.

We embrace the diversity of local and greater communities as we provide services to people throughout Queensland, northern New South Wales and the Northern Territory, in all major health specialities including medicine, surgery, mental health, cancer care, trauma, women's and newborn care, and more than 30 sub-specialities. Metro North Health services include rural, regional and tertiary hospitals, and community and oral health services.

Our diverse Health Service provides a wide variety of rewarding career paths across our tertiary/quaternary referral hospitals, secondary hospitals, community health centres, residential and extended care facilities and regional community hospitals. We expect our staff and volunteers to translate our values into action through providing high quality connected care that is relevant, efficient and respectful of our patients' needs and wishes. Our people are passionate about our community and patients, with a focus on putting people first. Come and work where people are at the centre of everything we do and your contribution is truly valued.

Health Equity and Racism

Metro North Health has set out its actions and agreed key performance measures to improve Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people's health and wellbeing outcomes.

Racism is a key structural determinant of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people's health inequity. Racism is not always conscious, explicit, or readily visible - often it is systemic. Systemic or institutional racism are forms of racism that are widely and deeply embedded in systems, laws, written or unwritten policies and well-established practices and beliefs that produce, condone, and perpetuate widespread unfair treatment, causing and/or contributing to inherited disadvantage.

It is expected that all Metro North Health staff, including the incumbent of this role as a valuable member of the Metro North workforce, contribute to the health equity agenda and meet the intent of supporting the defined six actions that specifically meet the needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people within the National Safety and Quality Health Service Standards (NSQHS), by actively supporting the elimination of racial discrimination and institutional racism; supporting increased access to health care; influencing the social, cultural and economic determinants of health; supporting the delivery of sustainable, culturally safe and responsive health services; and recognise the importance of working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, communities and organisations to design, deliver, monitor and review the health and support services we provide.
