

Special consideration guidelines

Overview

It is a condition of appointment to the Queensland Basic Paediatric Training Network that successful applicants commit to a 3-year pathway placement. In the event that special circumstances affect a network trainee's ability to comply with this condition, the applicant can apply for special consideration for alternate allocation arrangements. Such applicants must be able to demonstrate exceptional circumstances for consideration, such as significant and extreme personal hardship.

Eligibility

- New applicants who have completed the Queensland Health RMO Campaign online application by the official closing date of 1 July 2024. Late applications will not be accepted
- Current network trainees, either at time of RMO application or at any time during their 3-year network placement

How to apply

Applicants must submit the following completed documentation:

1. Contact Details – Name, address, email and phone number
2. A Queensland statutory declaration that:
 - Indicates if they are new to the network or a current trainee
 - outlines the details of the applicant's potential for hardship
 - list the documents the applicant will provide to support the request for special consideration

Download the Queensland statutory declaration (these can also be obtained from any Australia Post Office).

3. Certified copies of documentary evidence to support the request e.g.:
 - Medical certificate/s or other supporting documentation stating what the exceptional compassionate grounds or other exceptional reasons are
 - A second Queensland statutory declaration by a person other than the applicant

Family members cannot witness or sign any declarations or certify any documents.

Completed applications must be submitted to the Paediatric Network Medical Director via email at: Paediatric-Training@health.qld.gov.au

Decision and notification of outcome

All applications for special consideration will be reviewed by the Directors of Paediatric Education and the network Medical Directors on a case-by-case basis and applicants will be notified of the outcome within 10 business days. A network representative may contact you for further information regarding your request.

The Network will support trainees to complete their core requirements beyond the 3-year network.
